Inhofe to U.S. Senate: Make English Our Official Language

WASHINGTON, D.C. (May 8, 2007) – U.S. Senator James M. Inhofe (R-Okla.) today introduced his Official English Act of 2007 (S.1335) making English the national language of the United States, except where use of another language is authorized or provided by law. Inhofe's bill aims to save $1-2 billion each year in taxpayer dollars currently used to provide federal forms and perform services in languages other than English.
